

Consume

Jay Fields

Volume 10, Number 1, 2019

Critical Relationality: Queer, Indigenous, and Multispecies Belonging
Beyond Settler Sex & Nature

L'autochtone et queer au-delà de la nature et du sexe coloniaux

URI: <https://id.erudit.org/iderudit/1068141ar>

DOI: <https://doi.org/10.17742/IMAGE.CR.10.1.13>

See table of contents

Publisher(s)

York University

ISSN

1918-8439 (digital)

Explore this journal

Cite this document

Fields, J. (2019). Consume. Imaginations, 10(1), 383–384.

<https://doi.org/10.17742/IMAGE.CR.10.1.13>

All Rights Reserved © Jay Fields, 2019

This document is protected by copyright law. Use of the services of Érudit (including reproduction) is subject to its terms and conditions, which can be viewed online.

<https://apropos.erudit.org/en/users/policy-on-use/>

érudit

This article is disseminated and preserved by Érudit.

Érudit is a non-profit inter-university consortium of the Université de Montréal, Université Laval, and the Université du Québec à Montréal. Its mission is to promote and disseminate research.

<https://www.erudit.org/en/>

IMAGINATIONS:

JOURNAL OF CROSS-CULTURAL IMAGE STUDIES |
REVUE D'ÉTUDES INTERCULTURELLES DE
L'IMAGE

Publication details, including open access policy
and instructions for contributors:

<http://imaginations.glendon.yorku.ca>

Critical Relationality: Queer, Indigenous, and Multispecies Belonging Beyond Settler Sex & Nature

July 25, 2019

To cite this article:

Fields, Jay. "Consume." Imaginations, vol. 10, no. 1, 2019, pp. 383–384.
doi:10.17742/IMAGE.CR.10.1.13.

To link to this article:

<http://dx.doi.org/10.17742/IMAGE.CR.10.1.13>

The copyright for each article belongs to the author and has been published in this journal under a Creative Commons 4.0 International Attribution NonCommercial NoDerivatives license that allows others to share for non-commercial purposes the work with an acknowledgement of the work's authorship and initial publication in this journal. The content of this article represents the author's original work and any third-party content, either image or text, has been included under the Fair Dealing exception in the Canadian Copyright Act, or the author has provided the required publication permissions. Certain works referenced herein may be separately licensed, or the author has exercised their right to fair dealing under the Canadian Copyright Act.

CONSUME

JAY FIELDS

CONSUME STATEMENT

Unhealthy attachments are encouraged in monogamous relationships through a complex of economic, social, and popular media forces. The artificial sanctity of romantic interpersonal relationships often makes them seemingly invulnerable to outside critique, or at least outside of the realm of analysis. With art I hope to breach the untouchable relationship in an emotional way that is informed but not limited by more traditional academic analysis.

Consumption is the central theme of the sketch turned digital art piece. The lips and hungry mouth borrow from imagery that pops up frequently in advertising that takes advantage of the association between painted lips, generally a woman's, and sex. Mouths in this context are sexy but benign, and almost always presented for the male gaze and pleasure. With this illustration I aim to twist the common narrative of a woman's passive decorated lips into a more violent and consuming image – turning the passive mouth against the viewer and giving them a sense of being the passive object by empathizing with the people being manipulated inside the mouth. Another twist is having the mouth acting out the consumption that it is normally passive to. Beyond these media driven twists, consumption is also common in the way that monogamous romantic relationships are treated socially. Partners may be picked as much for what they can provide as for who they are, which leads straight into the economic push for consumption. "Sex sells" – the result being that women's bodies continue to be objectified for monetary gain, perpetuating the narrative that associates wealth and the accumulation of certain products with an entitlement to women's bodies and sex.

All of my illustrations use symbolism to bring social, economic, media driven relationship ideals into question. The play between appealing visuals and disturbing content is one that I feel reflects the appeal of these unhealthy relationship themes. Possessiveness, codependency, and consumption are all logically and practically unhealthy but the emotions driven by them, the intensity of a relationship fueled with unhealthy attachment and devotion, is recklessly and painfully appealing. My hope is that this cruel but beautiful love can remain in the realm of the illustrated and the narrated, rather than playing out in the lives of people who may be broken by the system and their own desires.